

DREAM OF BURGLARS CAUSES COMMOTION

Mrs. Moore Creates No End of Excitement -

BLEW POLICEMAN'S WHISTLE

Search of Premises Develops That Robbers Were Only Imaginative.
Real Thefts Reported.

A dream of burglars was the cause of a commotion on North Capitol Street, near New York Avenue, this morning. Mrs. Moore, of 1293, wrought up over the succession of burglaries in that neighborhood and in other parts of the city, startled the household by waking up and excitedly screaming that somebody was breaking into the house. In a few seconds the people in the house were astir and a police whistle, provided for such emergencies, was blown lustily. The neighbors, none of them immune from nervous anticipation of burglars, turned out in a few minutes, and several policemen put in an appearance. Diligent search in every direction failed to reveal any suspicious persons. It was further found that probably no attempt had been made to break into the house.

Mrs. Mary J. Shriver, 1714 H Street northwest, reported that her home was entered between midnight and 4 o'clock this morning. A chain purse on a table was opened and $2 in silver taken out, but the purse was left. The intruder ransacked the basement and first floor of the house. Entrance was made by means of a duplicate key. A great deal of valuable silverware and jewelry, which could easily have been taken, was not molested.

HEAVY DAMAGES ASKED BY JAMES C. CLEMENTS

Electric Company Sued for Personal Injuries to His Young Son in Georgetown

James T. Clements today filed suit against the Potomac Electric Power Company to recover $10,000 as damages for personal injuries to his son, James R. Clements, a minor.

It is explained that on September 11 last young Clements was permanently injured by coming in contact with a live wire controlled by the defendant in the square bounded by Potomac, Thirtieth, N. and O Streets northwest. It is stated that the wire was attached to a pole in an unoccupied lot in the square mentioned. Near the pole, it is said, there is a tree, through the branches of which some of the wires of the Potomac Electric Power Company also pass. On the date mentioned it is said that young Clements, with other boys, at play, climbed the tree, through the branches of which some of the wires of the defendant are strung. He accidentally caught hold of one of the live wires. As a result he lost four fingers of his left hand and two of his right.

Davis & Tucker are named as counsel for the plaintiff.

EVIDENCE AGAINST THE RAJA YOGI SCHOOL

Commissioner Sargent Asks
That Papers Be Withheld

Frank P. Sargent, Commissioner General of Immigration, who is in San Francisco on official business, has telegraphed to the Immigration Bureau to withhold all papers having any reference to the Raja Yogi School at Point Loma, Cal., and the eleven Cuban children who are detained at New York for deportation. Mr. Sargent advised the bureau that he is in possession of important evidence regarding the case.

Mr. Sargent, it is expected, will return to this city next Saturday.

DAUGHTERS PLANNING FOR MEMORIAL HALL

Canvass for $300,000 Needed
Soon to Begin.

The second annual conference of the Daughters of the Revolution was held at the New Willard Hotel yesterday. Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, regent for the District, presided over the three sessions. Plans for the Continental Memorial Hall, which is to be erected near the White House at a cost of $300,000, were discussed. The daughters have begun raising funds and are preparing a plan for a systematic canvass. It is proposed to place the national colors on the site to float until the building is completed.

It was announced that at the celebration of the wedding of President Washington on January 17 the tea drunk will be of American production.

Last night the members of the conference attended an entertainment in the ballroom of the Willard. The program consisted of a flag symposium by several members, music by the Hawaiian Glee Club, recitations and patriotic songs.

CHANGE IN METHOD OF SELECTING POLICEMEN

Effort to Keep Colored Men on the Force.

At the suggestion of Commissioner West the District Board has slightly modified the method of appointing policemen. Hereafter when a vacancy occurs through the resignation, death or retirement of a colored policeman, another colored man will be appointed, provided there is one eligible for the position.

For some time appointments to the police force have been upon a civil service basis. In practice the men go before the Civil Service Commission at intervals in classes of sixty or seventy. Of such a class twenty or thirty may pass, leaving the list of eligibles to be made from it until it is exhausted.

Under the new arrangement, when a vacancy occurs by the departure from the force of a colored man, another will be appointed, provided there is one in the class from which appointments are to be made. If not, a white man will be selected. In the present class of eligibles there were three colored men, two of whom have been appointed or rejected, leaving one eligible. It is thought that when it is understood that there will be places for colored men in the regular line of appointment more of them will qualify. This is the motive in the proposed change of making appointments.
